Internal audit, which is the independent assurance function in the third Line of Defence, performed audits according to the annual plan approved by the Audit Committee of the Board and performed also assignments requested by the management.

Main Features of the Internal Control and Risk Management Systems

Under Finnish Companies Act the management of the Company shall act with due care and promote the interests of the Company. The Board shall see to the administration of the Company and the appropriate organisation of its operations. The Board is responsible for the appropriate arrangement of the control of the Company accounts and finances. The CEO shall see to the executive management of the Company in accordance with the instructions given by the Board. The CEO shall see to it that the accounts of the Company are in compliance with the law and that its financial affairs have been arranged in a reliable manner.

Internal control and risk management activities are an integral part of the management's overall duty to ensure that the Company achieves its business objectives. Through efficient systems of internal control and risk management, deviations from objectives can be prevented or detected as early as possible. The Board is responsible for monitoring and evaluating the efficiency of the Company's internal control and risk management systems.

Finnair's Internal Control Framework is the defined set and structure of the Company's internal policies, rules, procedures and key controls. The framework is systematically developed and maintained to ensure the efficiency of the internal control system. The Internal Control Framework is designed to ensure effective and efficient operations, adequate identification, measurement and mitigation of risks, prudent conduct of business, including safeguarding of assets, sound administrative and accounting procedures, reliability of financial and non-financial information both externally and internally, and compliance with laws, regulations, supervisory requirements and with Finnair's internal policies and rules.

The role in the implementation of the internal control and risk management systems

The primary governance principle is adherence to the Three Lines of Defence model, with a clear division of roles and responsibilities with respect to internal control and risk management. A proper Three Lines of Defence governance ensures that the segregation of duties is defined and established between risk management and risk control.

- In the first line of defence, the business organisation and shared functions are risk owners, and thus responsible for conducting day-to-day control and risk management activities in accordance with the Internal Control Framework.
- In the second line of defence, Risk & Compliance acts as a control function that is responsible for developing and maintaining the Internal Control Framework and Risk Management Framework as well as for monitoring the implementation of the policies, rules, procedures and key controls within the frameworks.
- In the third line of defence, Internal Audit performs audits and provides the Board with an independent assessment of the overall effectiveness and maturity of the internal control and risk management systems.

Internal control and risk management systems in relation to financial reporting

The systems for internal control and risk management of financial reporting are designed to provide reasonable assurance about the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, applicable laws and regulations, and other requirements for listed companies. Internal control and risk management of financial reporting at Finnair can be described in accordance with the COSO framework which consists of the five components: control environment, risk assessment, control activities, information and communication, and monitoring.

Control environment

The control environment constitutes the basis for Finnair's internal control system. The control environment encompasses the culture and values as well as a clear and transparent organisational structure. Finnair's Internal Control Framework is a fundamental element in the control environment and consists of the Code of Conduct, Finnair Policies, Standards, Rules, and Manuals, as well as the related key controls.

For the proper functioning of the internal control and risk management of financial reporting, clearly defined roles and responsibilities are critical. The risk owners in the first line of defence – i.e. business units, Finance organisation as well as certain other shared functions – are responsible for the risk management activities, whereas Risk & Compliance, being a control function in the second line of defence, facilitates the identification and evaluation of risks, assists the first line of defence in defining the controls, and monitors the implementation of controls and risk management activities. In the third line of defence, Internal Audit provides the Board with an assessment of the overall effectiveness of the governance, risk management and control processes.

Risk assessment

Risks are continuously identified and analysed as part of the risk management process. Risk management is an integral part of running the business. Performing risk assessments as part of the business activities improves the relevance and quality of risk assessment. Main responsibility for performing risk assessments regarding financial reporting risks lies with the business organisation and shared functions, i.e. the first line of defence. Processes related to financial reporting are subject to on-going risk assessment by the business controllers, financial controllers and other shared service staff as part of their activities.

Consistent with the Three Lines of Defence model, the role of Risk & Compliance function is to develop and maintain the Finnair Risk Management Framework.

Control activities

Financial reporting manuals and instructions have been prepared to be followed across the organisation. The manuals and instructions outlining the content and schedule for the reporting aim to increase the overall controllability of the financial reporting process and ensure that financial statements fulfil the requirements set in the IFRS standards and other applicable requirements.

Risks related to financial reporting are managed through controls aiming to provide reasonable assurance that the information of interim reports and year-end reports are correct and that they have been prepared in accordance with legislation, applicable accounting standards and other requirements for listed companies.

Control activities are applied in the business processes and, from the financial reporting perspective, they ensure that errors or deviations are prevented or detected and corrected. Controls in financial reporting pertain to the initiation, recognition, measurement, approval, accounting and reporting of financial transactions as well as disclosure of financial information. The general IT controls support the financial reporting controls in areas like access control and back-up management. Responsibilities are assigned in the Finance function ensuring that analyses of the business performance, including analyses on volumes, revenues, costs, working capital, and asset values are performed in accordance with the control requirements.

Information and communication

The Finance organisation is responsible for ensuring that the financial reporting manuals and instructions are up-to-date and that changes are communicated to the relevant units and functions. The process owners of the main finance processes are responsible for informing about upcoming changes in International Accounting Standards, new accounting principles and other changes in reporting requirements.

The key principles of Finnair's Disclosure Policy regarding disclosure to the stock markets are reliability, openness, consistency and fairness. Finnair publishes press and stock exchange releases without undue delay and makes them available to the markets and all principal stakeholders simultaneously.

The key components and roles in control planning, implementation and monitoring

Monitoring and improvement

The business units and shared functions regularly assess the maturity of their control activities. The control function – Risk & Compliance – facilitates the identification and evaluation of risks, assists business units and shared functions in defining the controls, and monitors the implementation of controls and risk management activities.

The design and effectiveness of the internal control and risk management systems are also assessed as part of the audits by Internal Audit. Audit results, corrective actions and their status, are regularly reported to the Executive Board and to the Audit Committee.

Internal Audit

Internal Audit is established by the Board, and its responsibilities are defined by the Audit Committee of the Board as part of their oversight responsibility.

Internal Audit, the independent assurance function in the third Line of Defence, performed audits according to the annual plan approved by the Audit Committee of the Board and performed also assignments requested by the management.

The mission of Internal Audit in Finnair is to provide independent, objective assurance and consulting services designed to add value and improve the organisation's operations. Internal Audit helps the organisation to mitigate factors that might undermine its business objectives by bringing a systematic, disciplined approach to evaluate and improve the effectiveness of risk management, control and governance processes.

Related party transactions

Related party transactions are regulated by the Finnish Companies Act and the Corporate Governance Code issued by the Securities Market Association, as well as in the IAS 24 Related Party Disclosures. Finnair related parties include the subsidiaries, associated companies and joint ventures. Also, the Members of the Board, the CEO and other Members of the Executive Board, their close family Members and entities controlled directly or indirectly by them, as defined in IAS 24, are related to Finnair. Major shareholders with more than 20 per cent ownership of shares or of the total voting rights in the Company, are included in related parties. Finnair has defined procedures in place for identifying related party transactions.

In relation to any transaction with the Company the related parties must obtain permission in advance. The permission can be given by the Executive Board, or if the permission concerns the CEO or a Member of the Board, by the Board.

The person concerned may not participate in discussing the matter on the Executive Board or the Board or participate in preparations, decisions or implementation of the matter on behalf of the Company.

In addition, the Members of the Executive Board and the Board are required to file an annual report of transactions conducted by them or their related parties with Finnair during the financial period, as well as of transactions anticipated for the next period. The permission and notification procedures only apply to negotiated transactions. Hence, they do not apply to service or product sales or purchases available on normal commercial terms or to normal employee discounts.

Significant transactions between Finnair and its related parties are announced with a stock exchange release in accordance with the rules of Nasdaq Helsinki. Information on transactions with related parties is also provided in note 4.5 to the financial statements. Transactions have been carried out at market prices.

Managers' transactions and key insider management procedures

Inside information within the Company and transactions on Finnair financial instruments by persons discharging managerial responsibilities in the Company or their closely related persons are managed in accordance with the Market Abuse Regulation (MAR) and the insider guidelines of Nasdaq Helsinki and the Insider Rules of the Company. The Company's Insider Rules also apply to employees in the so-called informative core of the Company.

The Company maintains a list of persons discharging managerial responsibilities in Finnair (managers), including their closely related persons and entities, who must notify the Company and the Financial Supervisory Authority of their transactions on the Company's financial instruments within three business days of the execution of the transaction. The Company may also impose other trading restrictions and grant exemptions in accordance with its insider rules.

The Company's managers and employees in the so-called informative core of the Company must give an advance notice to the Company before the execution of a planned transaction. In addition, they can request an advance assessment of the legality of a planned transaction. The advance notice obligation and advance assessment opportunity are intended to reduce the risk of trading during a closed trading window or at a time when the Company has undisclosed inside information. Giving an advance notice does not affect the responsibility of the Company's managers and employees in its so-called informative core regarding the abuse of inside information.

The Disclosure Policy of the Company requires, in accordance with the Market Abuse Regulation (MAR), that the Company discloses any inside information it may have as soon as possible. However, the disclosure may be delayed if the requirements specified in MAR are met. The Disclosure Committee assesses the Company's information typically once a week and otherwise whenever necessary. If the Company delays the disclosure of inside information, it establishes a project-specific insider list and enters the persons with access to the relevant information on the insider list.
